

Decolonial Feminisms Seminar Series at Stockholm University:

The Gendered Logics of Settler Colonialism and Feminist Resistance

With Ashjan Ajour, Lecturer in Sociology at Birmingham City University, and Yasmin Gunaratnam, sociologist at King's College London.

When: February 19, 2026, 15:15–16:45 (Swedish time)
Where: Zoom

Zoomlink

<https://stockholmuniversit.zoom.us/j/68953298277>

In this seminar, Ashjan Ajour and Yasmin Gunaratnam will explore the gendered experiences of Palestinian women, tracing violence from the Nakba to the present, and the politics of women's solidarity in contexts of genocide. The conversation will also examine how Western societies, including academic institutions, remain dissociated from Palestinian suffering, and how new structures of justice and affective practices might support ethical witnessing, mourning, and reparation.

Questions?

Please contact fataneh.farahani@etnologi.su.se.

No registration needed.

Warm welcome!
Fataneh, Paula and Tanushree